10/22® TRIGGER GUARD ASSEMBLY

RUGER® 10/22®
DELUXE SPORTER

This diagram illustrates the assembly of the Ruger 10/22 Deluxe Sporter rifle. It shows the receiver (41) with a barrel (42) attached. The magazine (43) is shown separately, with a magazine cap (44) and a magazine follower (45) also shown. The magazine cap (44) is a small, circular component that fits over the top of the magazine. The magazine follower (45) is a small, rectangular component that fits inside the magazine. The magazine (43) is a long, cylindrical component that fits into the receiver. The barrel (42) is a long, cylindrical component that fits into the receiver. The receiver (41) is the main body of the rifle, which houses the action and the magazine. The diagram is a technical drawing showing the exploded view of these components, with callouts 41, 42, 43, 44, and 45 pointing to the respective parts.

RUGER® 10/22®
TARGET RIFLE

This exploded view diagram illustrates the main components of the Ruger 10/22 Target Rifle. The components are labeled with numbers: 1 (Barrel), 41 (Receiver), 42 (Trigger), 43 (Trigger Guard), 53 (Trigger Pin), and 54 (Trigger Spring). The diagram shows the barrel assembly, the receiver, the stock, and the trigger assembly, along with the trigger guard and trigger pin. The receiver is shown with a break in the middle, indicating its length. The trigger assembly is shown in an exploded view, showing the trigger, trigger guard, trigger pin, and trigger spring.

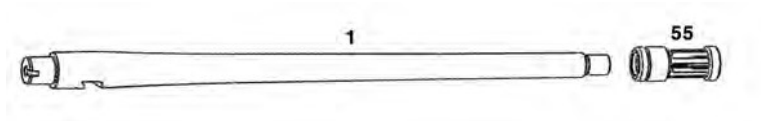

RUGER® 10/22® RIFLE & 10/22® COMPACT RIFLE

A detailed technical line drawing of a Ruger 10/22 rifle, shown from a side profile. The drawing includes various numbered callouts: 1 points to the barrel; 41 points to the trigger; 42 points to the buttstock; 43 points to the buttstock's textured grip area; 44 points to the receiver; and 45 points to the muzzle. A large number 48 is positioned at the bottom center of the page.
